FACULTY GAVE A XMAS PARTY

A Christmas Tree For Students — German Idea of the Christmas Festival Was Expressed.

The faculty of Number Five gave their annual Christmas party to the students and alumni of the school Friday evening, December 17, in the library. The room was decorated with bells and wreaths in keeping with the season. A Christmas tree containing a greeting for each guest stood on one side of the room. The girls were given bunches of holly tied with ribbons of various colors, while the boys received bunches of mistletoe tied with corresponding colors. By matching these, partners were secured for the grand march which was led by Miss Mary H. Boggs and George Palfreyman.

The German idea of the Christmas festival was portrayed in the entertainment. After the grand march, the Normal glee club, as they came slowly marching in from the hall and across the room to the Christmas tree, sang "Silent Night." This, to every one present, was very impressive. The Normal quartet, composed of Gerald Shirkey, William Utter, Edgar Hull and Harold Staples, then sang "Pale in the Amber West." Harry A. Miller, head of the department of reading and public speaking, told the students "What to Serve at the Christmas Dinner." The minuet following this, given by sixteen of the faculty members, was a pleasing feature of the program.

The color scheme of red and white was carried out in the refreshments, which were brick ice cream, mints and cake.

Notwithstanding the fact that many were compelled to be absent on account of illness, a large number of students and friends of the Normal were present, and this party was said by all to be the best of any that has ever been given at the Normal.

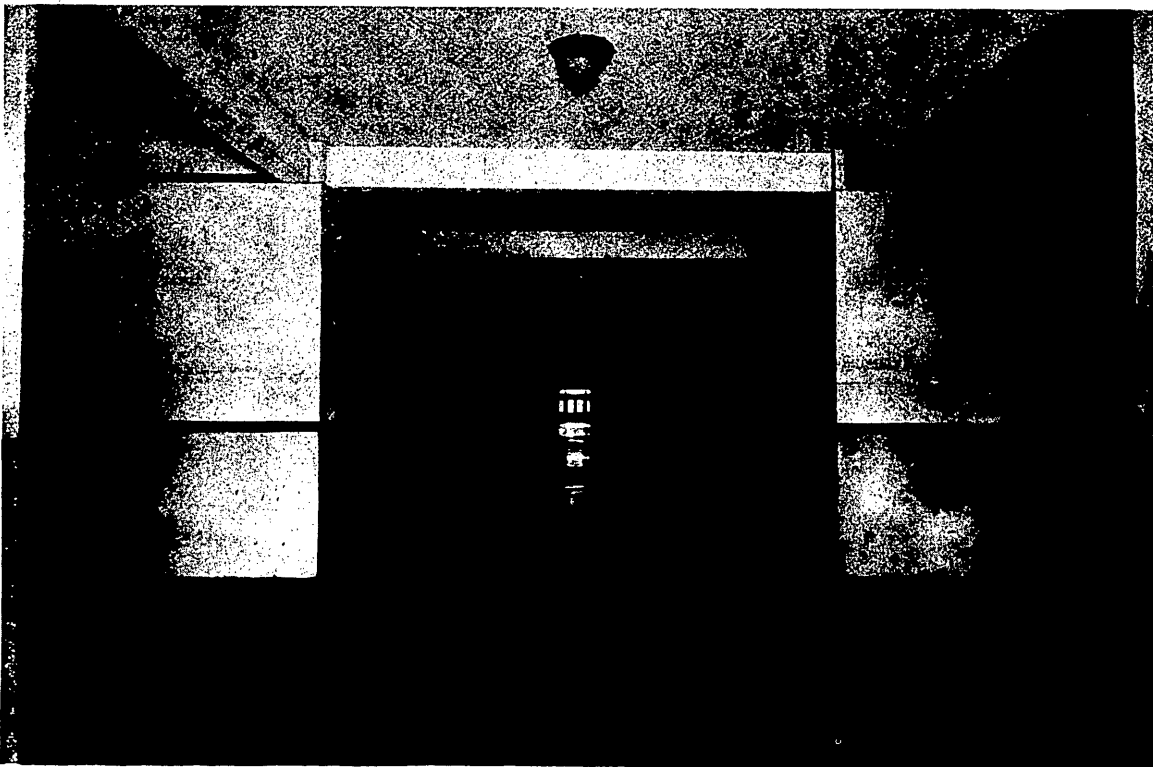

Miss Ora Barmann Writes From San Salvador

Miss Ora Barmann, 14, of Maryville, who is spending the winter in San Salvador has written many very interesting letters back home, concerning the life of the natives, the plantations, the Americans and the social life there.

On the way to Central America Miss Barmann went via New Orleans, where she took the ship Sydney of the White line. She had a five day's trip by water and was the only "tenderfoot" that she was entertained during her stay in Guatemala City. Captain Martin and Mrs. Martin were their friends, and while there several functions were given in honor of Miss Barmann.

The trip from Guatemala City to San Jose and Acapulco was made in a private government ship, which was chartered, so that Mr. Sol could save several days in travel, in order to meet Miss Barmann as soon as possible.

THE LONG CORRIDOR ON THE FIRST FLOOR — THREE HUNDRED FEET IN LENGTH.

on board the ship, but made the entire trip without becoming seasick.

The Sydney made a one-day stop at Belize. Miss Barmann had intended going ashore, but instead the captain took her aboard an English ship of war. The officers were very courteous and were glad to explain about their ship, she said. While on board a luncheon was served.

Miss Barmann's next stop was at Puerto Barrios, where she was met by an American consul. From there she went to Guatemala City, where Captain Martin, attache of the American embassy, met her. She spent eleven days there, waiting for the arrival of her friends, Salvador Sol, former ambassador, and his daughter, Miss Hortensia, who were unable to meet her on her arrival, owing to the poor railroad service along the Pacific coast.

The Sols made every effort to see

From Guatemala City Miss Barmann accompanied Mr. Sol and his daughter to San Jose and then to Acapulco, where they took the train to San Salvador. Upon their arrival a dinner was given for her at the Sol home, at which were fourteen Americans of the American embassy to welcome her. Since her stay in San Salvador there have been many social functions given in her honor among the diplomatic corps.

After the first of the year the social festivities are over, and Miss Barmann and the Sols will go to the plantations which Mr. Sol owns. These plantations consist of from 1,500 to 3,000 acres, of which Mr. Sol owns five.

Miss Barmann has visited one plantation, and in describing it she says that coffee is raised almost exclusively on these plantations. During the harvest

NORMAL WINS FROM CENTRAL

Score for Season's First Game, 25-24—
Boys Meet "Varsity" Team — Both Games Fast.

Joy reigns supreme at the Maryville Normal this week. The reason for this outburst of enthusiasm needs no explanation. Suffice it to say that Coaches Hanson and Palfreyman, together with the following named gentlemen:—"Dad" Scarlett, "Hickory" Leech, "Pig Iron" McClintock, "Chido" Scott, "Shanty" Lollis, "Fritz" Vandersloot, and "Scotty" Scott, returned safely to Maryville, Sunday night, Jan. 9, bringing with them the basketball scalp of the Central College team. This was the first championship contest of the season, and the boys who carried the banner of Number Five into foreign fields certainly lived up to predictions. The game was fast from the start, but it was soon evident to spectators that Maryville outclassed her opponents. At the end of the first half the score stood 17 to 7 and the Central Collegians were not holding down the big end either. However, in the second half they whipped up considerably and gave our boys a close run for their money. The final score, 25-24, stood in favor of Maryville. The Maryville team was somewhat handicapped in the last half, as Howard Leech, whom the other boys admired enough to make captain, became so ill that he was unable to continue to play, and Ralph McClintock was disqualified for four personals. Oscar Lollis relieved Leech and Walter Scott took McClintock's place.

According to both Coach Hanson and Coach Palfreyman, all the boys played a whirlwind game. Leo Scarlett was especially proficient and Ralph McClintock played the best game in which he has ever participated. Vandersloot and Homer Scott loomed up like Halley's comet.

Coach Hanson says that Central has

The New Year's Task.

Old Father Time has again shifted the curtain, exposing to the world, a New Year. But the old year is not dead although we may now make new resolutions. No old year has ever died for it lives on in that record of events called "History." What is there about the year 1915 that will paint it forever on the canvas of future history? The old year carried a great load of sorrow and suffering down the corridor of time; sorrow and suffering that is a heritage for the year that has just dawned. The history of 1915 was written in blood. Organized murder under the name of war slew unnumbered thousands of men and youths, desolated once peaceful and contented countries, and pauperized millions of people. This old year has been a tire-some record of wars, battles, and personal conflicts of Kings and Emperors.

It would seem as if the year 1915 and its events must strongly emphasize one idea, the value of systematic, disciplined organization, working in unity for community ends. Disciplined unity has enabled Germany to win marvellous successes. It has enabled France, with its smaller population, to make a showing that many people would have thought impossible for a democratic country. Lack of unity and discipline has made the English results disappointing.

But are these the things which will be of service to future generations? Will future generations, as they look back on this bloodstained year of 1915, praise or pity those countries which staked their all on force, on the adage that "might makes right?" Even now sensible men of both belligerent and neutral countries are saying that the war is folly, that no nation has a justified reason for its present actions. Pity and not praise will be the verdict of the posterity of the warring nations.

The really significant events, the thoughts that will bring praise from the mouths of future generations are the progress of education, individual liberty, political democracy, scientific discovery, useful invention, economic prosperity of the common people, the advance of moral ideas, and a confidence of humanity in humanity.

If the old year has not made much advancement in these things, it remains for us, who are here to shoulder the work of the new year, to do all within our power to forward these ideas. If 1915 taught that disciplined organization was food for a few countries, why is it not possible to apply it to the world in general?

What a wonderful world this would be with all its forces working in perfect harmony! The one struggle for the people of 1916 should be a struggle for peace, a fight for the unity of all nations in feeling, thinking and acting.

Let us make this great task our New Year's resolution, not to be thrown aside until the world is at peace.

New Editor-in-Chief Chosen.

It is the custom near the beginning of the new year to elect a student who holds the office of Editor-in-Chief of the school paper. Three names are chosen by a committee from the faculty. Each student is entitled to one vote and the students in this way elect the editor-in-chief by ballot.

The names voted upon this year were: Misses Mayme Converse, Elizabeth Sobbing and Verne Pickens. Miss Sobbing was elected.

Lowell L. Livengood is the retiring editor-in-chief.

Normal Has Big Enrollment.

The school has been putting forth special effort this year to make the enrollment for the winter quarter as large as that of the winter quarter 1912-13. This work has been rewarded for it was announced Tuesday, January 11, that the school is now serving more than 300 in a systematic, directed study. This number will be increased by a considerable number of correspondence and extension students who are completing arrangements for taking up systematic study. Only one winter quarter in the history of our school can boast of a larger enrollment. It is hoped that by the end of the winter quarter 1915-16, the boosters of the Normal can say, "The enrollment for this quarter has been the largest of any winter quarter in the history of the school."

Alumni Notes.

Miss Neva Airy, '13, returned to her school work in Ottawa, Kansas, January 2, after having spent the holidays here with her mother, Mrs. C. H. Airy.

Miss Glen Hotchkiss, '14, who is teaching in the grades at Kinney, Minn., visited her mother in Maryville during the holiday season.

Miss Myrtle McPherron, '14, who is attending the University of Missouri this year, spent the Christmas holidays in Maryville with home folks.

Miss Margaret McDougal, a 1910

graduate, who has been teaching in the grades here in Maryville, has resigned from her work because of ill health.

Clarence B. Perry, '14, spent the holidays in Maryville, the guest of his sister, Mrs. Ira Richardson. Mr. Perry has charge of the manual training department in the Chillicothe, Mo., High School.

Miss Maye Gowney, '15, returned to her home in Maryville at the Christmas season. From here she, with Mrs. Alice Perrin, Dean of Women, went to Hutchinson, Kansas, where they visited Mrs. Perrin's daughter, Mrs. Lottie McLeod. Miss Gowney is teaching Latin and English at Hunnewell, Mo.

Miss Myra Hull, '12, teacher of home economics in the Bedford, Iowa, High School is visiting her father and mother near Maryville. She has not been allowed to return to her work since the holidays, because Bedford is quarantined for scarlet fever. Miss Hull reports that her work is very interesting. Her cooking class, composed of eighteen girls, gave a Dutch buffet luncheon for the faculty, Oct. 28. The girls had made a study of the Dutch people and they had made a comparison between the home-life of colonial days and the modern home-life. They, themselves, purchased the food for the luncheon, prepared it and arranged the menu according to the food principles in each food. The expense was $1.25 for six persons. The menu was sausage, Boston baked beans, brown bread, sandwiches, pickles, cabbage salad, schmier case, fruit, cake and coffee. The decorations in the dining room, which has been furnished by the manual training boys, was carried out with red chrysanthemums, candles, Dutch figures and wooden shoes. Another study was made of a modern Christmas luncheon to be served at a total of $1.50 for six persons.

The following is taken from the Democrat-Forum for Wednesday, Dec. 30:

William Miles Oakerson and Miss Frances Catherine Hartman were married at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Robidoux hotel in St. Joseph, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city. The ceremony was witnessed by Prof. and Mrs. Bert Cooper. The newlyweds left on an afternoon train for Jefferson City, where they will be at home to their friends after January first. The bride is a daughter of George A. Hartman of this city. She is one of the well-known teachers of the county and has been active in church and social affairs. She is a graduate of the Maryville State Normal and the University of Missouri. For five years she was principal of the high school at Hot Springs, S. D. She was married in a dark blue traveling suit, and wore a black velvet hat. Mr. Oakerson was for several years county superintendent of schools and is now chief clerk in the office of the state superintendent of schools. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Oakerson of near Skidmore.

Entertained Seniors.

Misses Anthony and Winn certainly know how to entertain, for a more pleasant evening could not be imagined than was enjoyed by the Seniors, shortly before the holidays. The Seniors are a jolly bunch anyway, but that night they were in their elements. There were games and the refreshments were great, but the climax came as each couple was presented with a stocking full of Christmas toys. It was almost as though all the dignity, that characteristic of all Seniors, had been forgotten or laid aside, for certainly they were as happy as youngsters. Misses Winn and Anthony were as happy as the rest — It may be that the Seniors will forget some details of the theory and methods, but it's safe to wager that this occasion will always be remembered.

The Municipal Christmas Tree Program.

Many Normal students who stayed over the Xmas holidays enjoyed the Municipal Christmas celebration. Certainly it was an impressive occasion. Carols and Christmas songs were sung, and various scenes were enacted in tableau. Among the Normal students who took part in this program, were Edgar Hull and Wm. Utter, who with Philip Colbert acted the part of the Magi.

Miss Hazel Caywood Married.

Miss Hazel Caywood of Maitland, Mo., who has attended the Normal several terms, was married to Lewis Garnett of Skidmore, Mo., at St. Joseph, December 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnett will be at home after January 15, in Skidmore.

Two Rural Teachers Resign.

Ed Howland, a former Normal student who has been teaching the La Belle school, near Ravenwood, Mo., has resigned his position because of ill health. Miss Christine Farney, teacher of the Hickory Grove school, near Clearmont, has also resigned. Miss Farney will move to Washington with her parents.

Substituted at Skidmore.

Henry A. Miller, a Senior, substituted in the Latin and English departments in the Skidmore, Mo., High School, last week. The regular instructor, Miss Beatrice Sewell, '14, has been ill with la grippe.

Returns to School.

Harold Ryan, a student of last year, returned to the Catholic University of America at Washington, D. C., after spending the holidays here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Ryan.

Former Students Marry.

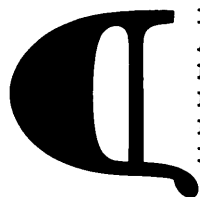

Rumor tells us that a summer romance has culminated in the marriage of Miss Amy Boatwright and Leonard Jones of Albany, Mo. These young people were students here last summer. The Green and White wishes them much joy.

Students Have Skating Party.

A group of students indulged in some wholesome recreation Friday evening, January 7, after their week of strenuous work. They met at the public library and went in a body to Forsyth's lake where skating was the source of amusement. Those in the party were: Misses Edna Deitz, Hazel Wallace, Thelma Roberts, Blanche Daise, Lucile Snowberger, Vida Heflin and Merle Searborough, and Messrs. Warren Breit, Verne Pickens, Edgar Hull, William Utter, Lowell L. Livengood, Virgil Lyle and Don Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Adams of Guilford, Mo., visited the Jan. 8-9, week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wood Adams of Maryville. Mr. Adams was a former student of the Normal.

Students Encourage Basketball Boys.

The student body is so interested in athletics and in our basketball team that it was only fitting and proper to give an athletic program in assembly Thursday, Jan. 6. Then, too, the team was leaving that day for Fayette, Mo., to play the first game with Central College.

Lowell L. Livengood, president of the student body, announced as the first number our two school songs to be sung by the students. As the assembly arose they were surprised to see the curtains on the stage rise also, but their cheers bespoke their delight when they saw the basketball team of 1916 on the stage before them.

Coach Hanson then told how the boys had worked to make such a good team and how the students could help them by their presence at all games. A letter to Mr. Hanson, from C. B. Woodward, a former basketball man, showed us the interest of former students in our work.

George Palfreyman, assistant coach, who has spent a great amount of his time with the boys said, "Let the boys speak for themselves."

The captain of the team was introduced, as Mr. Leech, but he is better known to students as "Hickory." He mentioned a telegram received by the team when at Tarkio last year. "It's a long way to Tarkio, but our heart's right there." Let this be your thot," said Mr. Leech.

It is necessary to have yell leaders in order to have organized yelling at a game. The student body elected Verne Pickens as chief yell leader, with F. H. Merriam, Miss Carrie Coler and William Utter as assistants.

Mr. Livengood then produced season tickets for the games of the season. The Eurekans pledged themselves for fifty. This was followed by pledges of the Philos, Seniors, Juniors and Exceelsiors for the same number. Several enthusiasts of the student body also responded.

The team had been excused so they might go to their train — the 10:42 Wabash. Pres. Richardson then announced that the classes following the assembly period would be dismissed so the student body could go to the station and "see the team off." This announcement was received with much applause. Then there was a rush for the station.

There, Yell Leader Pickens mounted a ladder and led the students in yells for the members of the team and the coaches. Individuals were assuring the members of the team of their support and the students would not leave the station until the train carrying their beloved team was out of sight.

Miss Hubbard Married.

Miss Ruth Hubbard, a student of last year, was married to Sylvester Stokes of St. Joseph, at her home in Fulton, Mo., Dec. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes are to live in St. Joseph.

Carl Campbell of Guilford, Mo., was the guests of Charles Skidmore and Madison Wilson on Saturday and Sunday, January 8 and 9.

Musical Program in Assembly.

A musical program under the direction of H. B. Schuler, head of the music department, was given in assembly, Dec. 22. The program was two selections by the Normal orchestra, a vocal duet by Miss Jennie Garrett and H. B. Schuler, song by the Normal male quartet, which is composed of Gerald Shirkey, Harold Staples, Edgar Hull and William Utter, and two selections sung by the Normal Glee club.

School Organizations Support Team.

How the school organizations stand back of the basketball team is shown by the following telegrams: Friday night, Jan. 6.—"Somebody's for you through and through."—Eurekans.

Saturday night, Jan. 7.—"The worst is yet to come — to the University."—Philomatheans.

Megedee-McDonald Nuptials.

Miss Katheryne Megedee of Richmond, Mo., and Mason McDonald, superintendent of schools at Stanberry, Mo., were married in Richmond, Dec. 31. Miss Megedee was an active member of the Senior class here last quarter.

Miss Izora Mutz A December Bride.

Miss Izora Mutz, a member of the Senior class, and Lloyd Ambrose were married at the Mutz home, Dec. 16. Miss Mutz was an active worker in the school organizations. Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose are living on a farm east of Maryville.

Following Friday night's game at Fayette, the team went to Columbia for the purpose of humbling the larger institution. The game was fast and furious. At the end of the first half the score stood 18-15 in favor of the "Varsity." In the last half the superior weight and endurance of the Missouri team began to tell and by the end of the last half we were beaten by a 49-25 score. For Missouri, Wear starred. Lee Scarlett was again given the phenomenon for the locals. All the boys played a fast game, and all took part in the game.

The first conference game to be played on the local court will be played with Missouri Wesleyan, the night of January 14.

The students are eagerly awaiting the contest. Just what they will do is still a matter of conjecture but it is believed that a monster parade is not unlikely.

Normal Overwhelms St. Joseph.

The Maryville Normal unmercifully defeated the St. Joseph Business College in a practice game played here December 20. Despite the fact that the St. Joseph aggregation boasted such stars as Cresop and other former "Platte" stars, they went down to an overwhelming defeat at the hands of the invincible Normals. The end of the first half showed Maryville leading by a score of 29 to 6. Our arithmetical knowledge would fail us, should we attempt to predict what the final score would have been, had the first team men played the entire game. As it was, the second team were given a chance, and revealed to the satisfaction of the students that there are real stars numbered among them. Leech, McClintock, H. Scott, Scarlett and Lollis played a stellar game for the locals. Walter Hanson refereed.

A large crowd was in attendance and some real enthusiasm displayed.

MIES BARMANN WRITES FROM SAN SALVADOR.

season, which is now on there, 800 natives work, and at other times of the year, 400 natives are employed.

The natives live in villages on these plantations and on each plantation the owner has a large home. In her walk over this plantation Miss Barmann saw dozens of large cement patios and the coffee on the trees, in the patios drying and ready for shipment.

The natives served the visitors with tortillas and firjoles, their only food. She did not say what this food was like, but there are so many things of interest in the strange land for Miss Barmann, it is very hard for her to write all that is interesting.

The homes and business houses are built very much alike, she says; in fact, it is hard to tell them apart. They are one-story square buildings. The homes are built around a court, the rooms being one deep, the parlors on one side, the sleeping rooms on another, the servants' quarters and the kitchen and dining rooms on the other two sides. Around this inner court is what we would call a piazza with huge columns. In this court are fountains, palms and flowers.

This is a country of earthquakes, and the architecture has to comply with the natural conditions. Miss Barmann will write soon about a series of functions which have been given for her.—Democrat-Forum.

Miss Olmstead Married.

Miss Hazel Olmstead, a former Normal student, and Ora Friend were married at the bride's home south of Hopkins, Sunday, Dec. 26. They will live on a farm northwest of Hopkins.

Girls Play Basketball Too.

A girl's basketball game was played in the East Normal gymnasium after school December 21, the Reds and Greens participating. The Reds won by a score of 26 to 20.

The players were: Reds— forwards, Thelma Roberts, captain, and Nita Elliott; centers, Verna Key and Opal Birkholtz; guards, Merle Levy and Herminia Street; Greens— forwards, Carrie Coler, captain, and Helen Stockton; centers, Dona Peter and Edith Johnson; guards, Edna Younger and Katie Abplanalp.

A tournament will begin soon, the games to be open to the school. The girls who have been practicing for the contest are very anxious for more girls to enter. They practice on Monday and Wednesday evenings of each week.

Hold Rural Farm and Home Institute.

The Harmony rural district, about fifteen miles northeast of Maryville, is holding a course in farm and home instruction this week. This community is noted for its progressiveness, the most of which is due the Rev. C. R. Greene, pastor of the Harmony church. Lecturers from the University of Missouri and the Maryville Normal are scheduled to speak. The Normal representatives are Miss Hettie Anthony, Pres. Ira Richardson and R. A. Kinaird.
